DOOR TO STUDIO...

...is still not installed! I am learning patience. At least I have progress inside, as I have found places for almost all "the things" (and I have a LOT of things). Much of it useful for classes and projects. So I am fine tuning the various work spaces and making sure I have access to everything. SOOO nice to be nearing the end of the re-building after the flooding and foundation work from this past summer.
